Reset Your Calendar

1. As you think through your calendar, prayerfully ask God what his priorities for your life are. What are the "important" things in your life (vs the "urgent" things)? What are the big rocks in your life - the things that make everything else fit right? Write those priorities down below....

2. Now, using those priorities, begin filling your weekly calendar (on the opposite page) with those activities.

3. After those priorities have been written in your calendar, where is there space for other activities? Do you have margin in your life for "God moments"?

4. What changes to your calendar should you make to better allow for God's priorities in your life and for margin? List those below...
